

Uncle Bert and Granny Boyce

By Alison Hedger AHCM308

UNCLE BERT (soft)

Have you hear of Uncle Bert,
Cousin of my Auntie Gert?

He creeps and moves around in slippers,
Any noise gives him the jitters.

He is a very gentle man
And listens hard. And when he can
He hears the birds, the bees, the breeze:
He even makes a silent sneeze!

He heard the flap of a tiny wing
And always hears a pin go "ping".

GRANNY BOYCE (loud)

Have you heard of Granny Boyce
Who always makes a frightful noise?

In her home she's loud all day:
Her neighbours wish she'd go away.

She crashes her cans and claps her hands:
There's never a hush while she's using her brush.
She trips into Rover and knocks things right over.
When baking some cakes – well, the noises she makes!

But the very worst thing is to hear Granny sing:
The noises are awful, they're shrill and they're loud.

Such noising around should not be allowed!
